Wintering in Salmon Harbor's Winchester

Bay RV Resort

The winter months provide the best storm watching along the Pacific Northwest Coast. Storm watching continues to grow in popularity as folks come to witness the ocean as it pounds the coastline. Frequent winter storms whip the Pacific into a fury creating row upon row of giant waves that crash in spectacular fashion all along the coast. It truly is a sight to behold. An excellent vantage point is in one of our waterfront sites where the waves pound the shore. These waves create a powerful roar, which can be enjoyed right from the safety of your RV. The awesome powers of mother nature can be felt and heard throughout the resort. Winter season is a great time to be on the Central Oregon Coast and beachcombing is actually best after a good storm as tumultuous seas deposit a variety of treasures on local beaches. The possibilities can be endless when it comes to winter-time activities: whale watching, storm watching, beachcombing, and, of course, crabbing or winter steelhead fishing. Or simply relax snuggling up with a loved one and your favorite wine or that favorite book you've been wanting to read. Enjoy the possibilities at Salmon Harbor!
